

NORTHLINE

Client Services Team Member – Casual positions

Northline is one of Australia's leading transport and logistics providers who operate in all supply chain sectors and employs approx 400 staff nationally. With our Head Office in Adelaide we are looking for energetic and enthusiastic people to join our client services team based at Unley.

To be considered you will need to be motivated with an exceptional telephone manner and polished communication skills. You should have strong computer skills and excellent time management.

This role will require you to be involved in:

- maintaining internal and external client relations
- meeting goals and targets
- providing high quality professional service to clients
- building and increasing the existing client base.

Proven experience within a customer service and sales environment would be an advantage, as would experience in the freight industry.

To cover nation wide contact hours (7:30am-6:30pm), you will need to be available each business day of the week and flexible to meet our changing needs.
